11/28/64 Charles Seib phoned me about 6 to say he was vacillating so much but that he had again changed the story that he had recheckED what I had given him and compared them to the Dallas Morning News. The only one he mentioned was my reference to the fragments of the bullet found in Connally's leg, which I hadn't mentioned as a fragment, although I made a vague reference that I pointed out was listed yesterday, when I said the bullet struck bone. Seib said the News [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
